

Hebdige, Dick

Hiding in the Light

London, New York (Routledge) 1988, pp. 277

Contents

Introduction	7
SECTION 1: YOUNG LIVES
1. Hiding in the Light: Youth Surveillance and Display	17
2. Mistaken Identities: Why John Paul Ritchie Didn't Do It His Way	37
SECTION 2: TASTE, NATION AND POPULAR CULTURE
3. Towards a Cartography of Taste 1935-1962	45
4. Object as Image: the Italian Scooter Cycle	77
5. In Poor Taste: Notes on Pop	116
SECTION 3: LIVING ON THE LINE
6. Making do with the "Nonetheless": In the Whacky World of Biff	147
7. The Bottom Line on Planet One: Squaring Up to The Face	155
SECTION 4: POSTMODERNISM AND "THE OTHER SIDE"
8. Staking out the Posts	181
9. Post-script 1: Vital Strategies	208
10. Post-script 2: After (the) Word	224
11. Post-script 3: Space and Boundary	227
12. Post-script 4: Learning to Live on the Road to Nowhere	233
Notes and References	245
Acknowledgements and Picture Credits	261
Index	266